Cites Security Threats

President Urges Self-Censorship On Part Of Press

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy urges that American newspaper publishers consider some form of self-censorship in light of cold war threats to national security.

He has given no particulars on what he has in mind. But he says his administration would cooperate wholeheartedly if the press would "consider and recommend the voluntary assumption of specific new steps or machinery."

The President emphasized that he was not proposing government censorship or new secret classifications, which could be abused, on government activity.

He suggested that the newspapers weigh not only whether a story is news but also whether publication is in the interest of national security.

A cross-section of publishers adopted a restrained attitude toward Kennedy's appeal "to heed the duty of self-restraint" in their news columns. Those interviewed supported the general idea, but some insisted on specific guidelines.

Kennedy made his proposal Thursday night in an address before 1,700 publishers, editors and other newspaper executives and their wives at the annual dinner of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

The dinner address was part of a two-day speech and conference trip.

Kennedy — deeply concerned over rebel disregard of an East-West cease-fire appeal in Laos — today opens a new series of talks on world dangers with leading Americans and United Nations officials.

Kennedy first scheduled meetings with former President Herbert Hoover and General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. He arranged to drive from his suite in the Carlyle Hotel to the Waldorf-Astoria, where Hoover and MacArthur have apartments.

Then he invited Adlai E. Stevenson, ambassador to the United Nations, and U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld to lunch in his own quarters.

His purpose was to acquaint all four with White House views — and seek their thoughts — on Cuba, Laos and other trouble spots.

Hoover is the fifth leading Republican to confer with Kennedy on world problems in recent days. The others were former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, former

Lisbon Waits Vote On Levy, Bond Issue

One Leontina Party To Decide Contest In Tuesday Ballot

Voters at Lisbon will skip balloting on party nominations Tuesday because there are no contests listed, but will decide a proposed 3-mill village operating levy and a $330,000 school bond issue.

Columbiana will have no balloting, because the party slates lack contests, but at Leontina, there will be voting on Democratic candidates and on a proposed renewal of a 4-mill current expense levy. Leontina Republicans have no contests.

At Salineville, where the population has declined to 1,898, village officers will be elected on a non-partisan basis in November. Only communities at 2,000 or more list municipal officers on primary ballots for nomination for election if there are contests.

The Lisbon bond issue is for the proposed addition to the McKinley School, and voters in the entire school district will cast ballots. Only voters inside the village will ballot on the proposed new 3-mill levy.

A 55 per cent majority is required for passage of the 3-mill village measure, while 60 per cent approval is needed for the school bond issue.

Similarly, 55 per cent will be needed for the Leontina levy.

All uncontested party candidates at Lisbon, Columbiana and Leontina will receive certificates of nomination from the Board of Elections for the November ballot.

The Leontina Democrat slate includes:

Mayor — James L. Blackwood.
 Clerk — Daniel A. Butch.
 Treasurer — Betty E. Kegelmeyer.

Council 4-year term (four to nominate) — Daniel J. Cullinan, John V. Grunick, Mildred A. Arfman, William A. Navojosky, Paul Casey and Benjamin E. Brown.

Council 2-year term (two to nominate) — Frank J. Citino, Frank Gotti, John W. Hogue, Russell G. Sinsley and Charles J. Lanza.

Board of Trustees of Public Affairs (three to nominate) — Victor P. Billet, Michael T. Mancuso, Francis R. Eskay and James R. Young.

The Leontina Republican slate for November is headed by incumbent Mayor Ralph B. Kennedy, M. P. Buruck, present clerk, will run as an independent candidate for mayor in November.

At Lisbon, incumbent Mayor Dean Stockman, Republican, will be opposed by Robert S. Harrold, Democrat, in November.

Special Notice! Local No. 94. There will be a special meeting at the City Council Hall at 2 p. m. Sat. afternoon. Important meeting. All not attending will be fined $2. By order of Pres.—Ad.

Georgetown Man Held In Hit-And-Run

Deputy Nabs Driver For Chester Mishap After Radio Alert

A Georgetown driver, apprehended by a Hancock County Sheriff's deputy on Route 30 following a hit-and-run traffic mishap in Chester Thursday afternoon, is slated for a hearing on two charges.

Franklin Harley Matchett was arrested for leaving the scene of an accident and driving while intoxicated.

Police said Matchett failed to stop after his 1960 sedan collided with a 1959 sedan driven by Richard Glenn Milner of Plutus Ave. yesterday afternoon at 3 at 1st St. and Virginia Ave.

A report of the crash was received by phone at the City Hall where Earl Wilson, waterworks clerk, alerted patrol cruisers via shortwave radio.

Deputy Sheriff A. R. Durham arrested Matchett at 3:18 p. m. at the Hilltop area intersection of Routes 30 and 2. Matchett was returned to the city and jailed under the charges filed by Patrolman Clarence Lennens. He will receive a hearing Thursday before Mayor Ray Collins.

Artie E. Bates, 22, of Chester R. D. 1 is slated for a hearing May 6 before Mayor Collins on a charge of failure to have his vehicle under control.

He was cited by Police Chief Harold Davis after his 1953 sedan struck the rear of a 1953 coupe driven by Kenneth Earl Murphy, 39, of Newell at Carolina Ave. and 1st St. yesterday at 12:30 p. m.

Murphy was halted for a traffic signal. Police said damage to both autos was minor.

Early Smoot, 75, of Fairview Rd., whose car rammed the home of Clyde Chaney of Carolina Ave. at 8th St. April 16, will receive Steelmark Days will be observed with special programs and displays throughout next week in communities in both Ohio and West Virginia from East Liverpool to Wheeling.

Similar proclamations were issued by Mayor Ray Collins of Chester and mayors of other communities in Jefferson, Bel-

Red Rebels Post Claim Of Victory

Cease-Fire Target Passes, No Word From Communists

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The Western-backed Laotian government's noon target hour for a cease-fire in the civil war passed today with no response from the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels.

Proclaiming "we are the victors," rebel broadcasts were still demanding Thursday that the Vientiane government send a delegation to their headquarters at Xieng Khouang, in eastern Laos, "to negotiate and discuss the cease-fire and armistice question."

The Vientiane government showed no disposition to bow to the rebel demand and instead hoped that negotiations would get under way this weekend in Luang Prabang, the royal capital 138 miles north of Vientiane, at the ceremonial cremation of the late King Sisavang Vong.

Top officials of Premier Boun Oum's government and diplomats were gathering in Luang Prabang for the cremation, one of the most important events in the little kingdom's recent history. But there was no indication so far that Prince Souvanna Phouma, whom the Communist bloc recognizes as the legal premier of Laos, and his half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Pathet Lao, would attend.

Souvanna and Souphanouvong are relatives of the late king, and Buddhist tradition requires their attendance at the rites.

Souvanna Phouma arrived back in Laos today after nine months in self-imposed exile.

Blaming the Western powers for the civil war, he flew to Xieng Khouang, in the Plaine Des Jarres, after a tour of European and Asian capitals that culminated in joint declarations of mutual support with Communist China and North Viet Nam.

British quarters in Vientiane have said that Boun Oum and Souvanna Phouma must form a coalition government to represent all Laos at the Geneva conference scheduled to meet May 12 to chart the future of the country.

But the declaration Souvanna Phouma and Premier Pham Van Dong of North Viet Nam issued in Hanoi today treated the Laotian as the head of a full-fledged government. The statement said they had decided to exchange ambassadors and sign "in the immediate future" an agreement on economic and cultural questions.

Twenty-four hours before Souvanna Phouma's return, acting rebel Premier Khamsook Koela declared in a statement: "At present, we are preparing to receive the delegation from Vientiane which is to come to Xieng Khouang to negotiate and discuss the cease-fire and armistice question."

Gas Rate To Increase By Three-Fourth Cent

Higher cost of natural gas from suppliers will result in an increase June 1 of three-quarters of a cent a 1,000 cubic feet of the gas rate in East Liverpool, the Ohio Valley Gas Co. announced today.

Increases, effective June 1, also will change gas rates in 20 other Eastern Ohio communities in Ohio Valley's Steubenville Division under provisions of their fuel cost clauses, according to Harold Sneddon, East Liverpool area manager.

The concern decreased the cost by 1 1/4 cents March 1 after the federal power agency ordered the transmission firm that supplies the fuel to reduce charges to area utilities.

Council Due To Enact Free Street Oiling

City Will Apply Oil Without Cost First Time Since 1958

City councilmen said today they expect to enact legislation shortly authorizing a $10,000 program to apply about 100,000 gallons of oil to all unsurfaced East Liverpool streets and alleys at no cost to the property-owners.

It's the first time since 1958 the city has borne the entire cost of the annual summer oiling program. Council expects to enact legislation authorizing the administration to call for bids on the oil.

As in the past, the city's tank-type distributor will be used to spray the oil on streets, but several precautions will be taken to avoid complaints that cropped up in the past over the program, councilmen said.

To avoid the puddles that sometimes formed when the oil was applied in one coat, the material will be sprayed in two lighter applications in this year's program — the first as soon as weather permits and the second late in the summer.

In addition, a strip approximately a foot wide will be left untreated on the curb side of each street, so that persons alighting from cars will not step into fresh oil and then track it into their homes.

Experience has shown that the oil will "creep" toward the out-

Issue On Tuesday Ballot

Southern Local District Will Vote On Bond Issue

One of the most significant decisions on school operations faces voters in Tuesday's balloting on a proposed $350,000 bond issue to provide a new high school, according to Southern Local School District officials.

At stake is a $404,000 grant from the state to aid in the school construction, available on condition the district provides its share in the bond issue. Estimated cost of the school is $760,000.

A majority approval is required for passage of the bond issue, which is linked with a half-mill levy to provide partial repayment of the state grant.

Hits Revolt Backers

DeGaulle Orders Purge In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—A vast purge of the police, administration, press and army in Algeria was launched today on President Charles de Gaulle's order to root out supporters of the unsuccessful generals' revolt.

Authorities said that 70 Algerian gendarmes have been arrested, a high appeals court judge suspended, many army officers arrested, 12 staff members of Radio Algiers suspended or transferred, and hundreds of civilians questioned and many held.

Formal orders have been given to disband the Foreign Legion 1st Parachute Regiment that spearheaded the brief revolt, and all its officers are prisoners.

Armored cars manned by loyal soldiers guarded army headquarters, Radio Algiers and other installations. Officials admitted that despite the widespread purge, they were still not confident government control had been completely restored.

The underground right-wing "army" of European settlers spread tracts through Algiers this morning saying that the collapse of the army revolt did not mean that European resistance would also collapse.

"Traitors will be punished," the tracts said.

Despite the high tension among the European settlers, the Moslem population remained calm. A Moslem informant said they had received orders from the nationalist rebel headquarters to avoid any provocative acts and remain at home as much as possible.

An early trial before a joint military-civilian court was indicated for the leader of the abortive mutiny, ex-Gen. Maurice Challe.

Within 48 hours after the leader of the abortive revolt in Algiers surrendered, a nine-man tribunal was set up to try him for his life.

Jailed as a common criminal, Challe, 55, was given two days to name a legal adviser—or take one appointed by the court—and then only eight more days to prepare his defense.

Using the dictatorial powers he assumed to combat Challe's rebellion, De Gaulle sent police on raiding missions throughout France and Algeria. More than

Final Trial 'Successful' In Space Bid

U.S. Fires Capsule; Astronaut To Take Real Test Tuesday

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP)—A Mercury space capsule was fired thousands of feet into the air today in an apparently successful final trial before a man trusts his life to the devices intended to save him in case of trouble in the liftoff.

The aim was to determine whether the equipment would work under the most punishing conditions an astronaut might encounter.

Next comes the real test—probably next Tuesday—at Cape Canaveral, Fla., with man aboard for a longer ride.

Little Joe VII, consisting of six solid-propellant rockets, blasted off at 9:04 a. m. from this Virginia Eastern Shore test center.

The space chamber with two ballast-filled dummies aboard, rode on the vehicle's nose.

In 30 seconds the rocket lifted the 3,000-pound capsule to about 35,000 feet, where a timing device triggered the escape sequence.

The vehicle at that moment was traveling at about 1,200 miles an hour.

Later when a capsule is launched by a more powerful Red-

'Patience' Wears Thin Is Report

Soviet's Stalling Over Cease-Fire Is Seen As Reason

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was reported near the end of its patience today with what officials privately call Communist stalling over a cease-fire in Laos.

President Kennedy has initiated consultations with allied governments and with congressional leaders on what steps may be taken next to prevent more of Laos from falling to Soviet-backed rebel forces.

New action could include U.S. and allied military intervention aimed at halting the rebel offensive. But informed officials said that Kennedy had not decided finally on his next move.

A State Department statement Thursday night declared "real United States concern over the failure of the Pathet Lao rebel forces" to accept a British-Soviet cease-fire call issued last weekend.

Behind this concern was a growing anxiety that the rebel offensive could shortly result in the capture of the royal capital, Luang Prabang, and the administrative capital, Vientiane.

Should rebel successes bring the collapse of the pro-Western Boun Oum government, the ability of the Western powers to deal with the Communist challenge in the Southeast Asian kingdom would be almost disastrously crippled.

Beyond the immediate threat to Laos, Kennedy administration leaders fear, is a broader threat to South Viet Nam and Thailand. The United States recently gave both countries new assurances of military support as events may require.

In Laos, there was no indication that the Pathet Lao would call off the shooting at noon today. The royal government set that hour for the halt in fighting to become effective.

Before leaving Washington on a speech making trip Kennedy conferred Thursday with congressional leaders. He told them, it was learned, that the situation for pro-Western forces in Laos was deteriorating and that further moves have to be considered seriously.

Following this meeting, the State Department issued a statement which said: "Today's discussions have revolved around the question of what the approach of the United States and other nations interested in maintaining the integrity of an independent Laos is to be should the Communist rebels prove completely unwilling to grant a cease-fire and work toward a peaceful solution."

Occupational Tax Upheld For Midland

Midland's $10 occupation tax covering both residents and non-residents employed in the borough was upheld this morning in Beaver County Court.

Judge Morgan H. Sohn handed down the ruling supporting the tax adopted by Borough Council late in February. The tax becomes effective May 1.

The legality of the proposed tax was questioned by a group known as the Tri-State Citizens Committee, which launched a court fight to nullify the tax.

The committee contended the tax ordinance was "wholly invalid because it purports to tax occupations of non-residents . . . contrary to law." The ordinance also violated the due process clause of the 14th amendment, the committee claimed.

Collection will begin June 1.

Operations Due May 15

Midland Hires 2 At Sewage Plant

Midland Council Thursday evening hired two operators for the borough's new sewage treatment plant and retained Michael Baker Jr., Inc., of Rochester as consulting engineers for the Planning Commission.

On recommendation of Steve Gernusa, Council president, Daniel Orlando, 1104 Virginia Ave., and Sam Jarovich, 468 Beaver Ave., were employed as operators, effective Monday, at a salary of $400 a month.

ORLANDO, Civil Defense director of Midland, is presently laid off at his job at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. where he has worked 21 years.

Jarovich also is an idle Crucible pipe fitter and has been employed about 10 years. Both are Lincoln High School graduates. They will receive hospitalization and insurance, the same as the water department employees of the Municipal Authority, which is expected to take over operations of the plant.

R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, reported the plant should be ready for operation by May 15. He said road and fence work was started Thursday and contractors hope to have all work inspected and approved by June 1.

GERMUSA said there were numerous requests for the operator jobs and the two were selected for their knowledge, experience, ability to learn and dependents. He said both will receive special schooling.

Council hired the Baker engineers as consultants for the commission on a motion by Councilman Raymond Presutti. Though no fee was set, Councilman Harvey Spencer, vice president, who presided, said the borough has the right to accept or reject the engineers' bid. Council said the $5,000 fee by Morris K. Nowles, Inc., of Pittsburgh, engineers for the comprehensive plan completed last winter, was too high.

DR. ZANVEL SIGAL, commission chairman, was present and said that as an individual, he recommends Michael Baker in the light of the borough's ability to pay. He said he does not want to see "the plan shelved but kept alive."

Concerning the comprehensive plan, a letter from the Midland Chamber of Commerce, read by Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, Council secretary, requested a meeting as soon as possible with Council or a committee to discuss it.

After a motion by Presutti, Council referred the request to the commission.

COUNCIL approved salary adjustments for three borough officers, of $5 a month. They are Vincent D'Itri, acting fire chief, whose salary is increased to $80, Joe Spanik, treasurer, to $65 and Mrs. William Spisak, Hi-Spot Youth Center director, to $55.

Council decided to advertise for personnel for the Veterans Memorial Swimming Pool this summer. Those who apply must be over 16 and applications must be turned in by Friday, May 19.

at 5 p.m. at the Borough Secretary's office. Salaries will be the same as last year.

Mrs. O'Hara read a letter from Bureau of Correction, Pennsylvania State Department of Justice, which cited the Midland Jail as "excellent" after an inspection April 14 and commended the borough on its detention policies.

COUNCIL approved a motion of Councilman Joseph D'Alesio that the borough pay a $15 bill of Mitchell Disadore, 1133 Ohio Ave., whose sewer was clogged last fall by tree roots. Council also approved removal of the tree.

Spencer said that, in the future, any residents who have similar tree problems should contact Steebner or Matt Brozic, street department foreman.

Presutti, tree committee chairman, said trees are being trimmed and removal will begin in about two weeks in the Spring Ln. area.

D'Alesio recommended that Steebner fill in a hole near doors at the rear of the theater building on Woodlane Ave. between 5th and 6th Sts.

Council ordered payment of a $560 bill of the Muschweck Brothers of Industry for tree service.

2 Brothers Cited In Market Entry

Two Glenmoor brothers, 7 and 9, arrested at 3 a.m. today for a burglary of Tony's Market on the Y. & O. Rd. implicated another brother, 11, in another entry of the same store Wednesday night. St. Clair Township Constable John Jackson reported.

The two younger boys were taken into custody by the constable, aided by Deputy Sheriff Herman Wellman, after he received a telephoned report of prowlers in the market. He said he found the two boys outside the market with merchandise valued at a total of $137.

When questioned, the two boys said their 11-year-old brother also had broken into the market the preceding night. On both occasions, entry was made via a broken window in an overhead garage door in the basement of the store, the boys told the constable.

All three boys are scheduled to appear before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon today, the constable said. The store is operated by Tony Rovito of the Y. & O. Rd.

Sponsored by the Beaver County Heart Association and the Beaver County Medical Society, it will be held at the Beaver Junior High School auditorium on College Ave. at 8 p.m.

Other panel members will be Dr. Donald W. Gressly of Beaver, Dr. John A. Mitchell of Monaca and Dr. John L. Moyer of Rochester, moderator.

Dr. Harvey is co-author of the textbook, "Clinical Auscultation of the Heart" with Dr. Samuel A. Levine.

Questionnaires, distributed for the public to submit questions, must be returned by Tuesday.

Political Film Shown Club

"Operation Shoebox," a political film, was screened at a meeting of the Ohioville Republican Club Wednesday night in the Ohio Township building.

Earl Scheel, chairman, announced that final plans for the May 16 primary will be made at a meeting of precinct captains and poll workers in his home on TV Tower Rd. Wednesday at 9 p.m.

Mrs. F. Paul Dawson was named chairman of a committee to arrange for a booth at the township firemen's carnival and the Fairview Grange fair. She will be assisted by Sam McKinney, George Vlach, Mike Selak and Sylvester Vranes.

Members voted to buy space in a calendar being published by the Midland High School marching band.

The Executive Board will meet Friday, May 26, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Paul Dawson of Fairview.

A slate of new officers will be selected by a nominating committee to be named at the next meeting, Wednesday, May 24, at 8 p.m. in the township building.

Election and installation of officers will be held at the June meeting following a covered dinner for members and guests.

Equipment's Use In Park Slated

Use of Chester city equipment to prepare a baseball diamond at the Chester City Park was granted at a meeting of the Park Commission and Councilmen Thursday night at the park.

Councilmen Harry Davis, Donald Hissam and W. F. Bishop approved the use of city equipment to scrape a southeast area of the park for a ball area.

The project is to be started immediately, and the field may be ready to use in two or three days. Harold Dickey, park commission chairman, said.

Anthony Amedeo, Jack Huff, John Corcoran and Willis Friley, a delegation from the American Legion designated to determine park needs, inspected the unfinished park community building.

The commission will meet May 10.

Lt. Walker Receives Extra Leave For Trial

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhagen Thursday afternoon granted an additional 30-day leave of absence to Police Lt. Thomas A. Walker to await the outcome of a Common Pleas Court case in which the officer is charged with larceny of a television set from the office of Chief Americo J. Radeschi.

The leave was granted to clear up the lieutenant's status after Sunday, when a 30-day suspension expires. He was given the suspension March 31 in an order from the chief accusing him of malfeasance in connection with the disappearance of the same television set.

The secret indictment charging larceny was returned April 17 by the April Grand Jury. Lt. Walker later pleaded not guilty. No date has been set for the trial. Lt. Walker submitted a letter to Copenhagen asking the additional leave, effective Sunday. The director replied in writing, granting the request.

The Kennedy-Republican Talks

Reaction to President Kennedy's requested meeting with top Republicans, including former President Eisenhower, can be divided into two categories.

One of them is personal: What is the chief executive up to?

The other is impersonal: Is something big in the wind?

The two are related, of course. One of the subjects discussed in each meeting was Cuba. This suggests the President is planning some major move to unseat Red-leaning Fidel Castro's regime and wants either the support or the advice of his political opponents, or both.

THE WHOLE SERIES of conferences with Sen. Goldwater, former Vice President Nixon, Mr. Eisenhower and, perhaps, Gov. Rockefeller, is just the sort of thing that creates excitement among pundits, excitement that rubs off on ordinary citizens.

Some interpret the invitations to talk as political. What can be more shrewd than to use the flattery of an invitation and the personal charm of a face-to-face meeting to undercut the sharpness of potential political criticism?

Some interpret the meetings as an example of leadership. What is more natural, in the conduct of foreign affairs, than the President's attempt to persuade his opponents that they must support him in this vital area?

Some interpret the talks as a sign of caution. In the aftermath of an abortive invasion of Cuba and in the face of Communist stalling on other world problems, what would be more logical than the President's sounding out opinion from all sides before proceeding with major decisions?

Some even say the talks signify a touch of humility. If, as is the case with most new presidents, Mr. Kennedy has found the burdens of his office even more awesome than he had imagined, wouldn't it be natural for him to seek the advice of other leaders on matters affecting the security and welfare of the entire nation?

THE FACT that any of these interpretations can be reasonably applied to the series of the conferences indicates that perhaps all of them are factors.

An effective president must be politically shrewd, possessed of leadership abilities, cautious and sometimes humble. That is what his constituents really expect of him.

If the talk means that something big is in the wind that will mark a major shift in or implementation of foreign policy, Mr. Kennedy's constituents will be reassured to know that he consulted with the top men of his political opposition.

For the talks indicate that the President is aware his constituents include those who voted against him as well as those who voted for him.

Fable With A Modern Twist

(Reprinted from the Sonoma County, Calif., Medical Society Bulletin.)

A young man lived with his parents in a public housing development. He attended public school, rode the free school bus and participated in the free lunch program.

He entered the Army and upon discharge kept his National Service life insurance. He then enrolled in the state university under the GI bill, working part time for the state to supplement his GI check.

Upon graduation he married a public health nurse and bought a farm with an FHA loan, then obtained an RFC loan to go into business. A baby was born in the county hospital. He bought a ranch with the aid of a GI loan and obtained emergency feed from the government.

Later he put part of his land in the soil bank and the payments helped pay off his debts. His parents lived very comfortably on the ranch with their social security and old-age assistance checks.

The county agent showed him how to terrace it, then the government paid part of the cost of a pond and stocked it with fish. The government guaranteed him a sale for his farm products.

Books from the public library were delivered to his door. He banked money which a Government agency insured.

He signed a petition seeking federal assistance in developing an industrial project to help the economy of his area. He was a leader in obtaining the new federal building, and went to Washington with a group to ask Congress to build a great dam costing millions so that the area could get cheap electricity.

Then, one day, he wrote his congressman a letter of protest:

"I wish to protest excessive government spending and high taxes. I believe in rugged individualism. I think people should stand on their own two feet without expecting hand-outs. I am opposed to all socialistic trends."

bad. We asked a junior high lad "What part did Appomattox play in Civil War history?" and got answer "They shot him." He said Grant, Lee and Richmond were top Southern generals. "What happened at Concord Bridge?" brought reply, "It got blown up by the North."

One of America's traditional products, the bag of peanuts is meeting with a cold war. John W. Hanes, head man of big race track, has banned the sale of peanuts in shells on premises because shucks are hard to sweep up. This is a low blow at the peanut, the peanut lover and public customs. To peanut addicts Mr. Hanes is a public enemy, a menace to personal comfort and a threat to outdoor liberties enjoyed by Americans since colonial days. Paul Revere probably had a bag of peanuts on famous ride. The Minute Men cracked shells behind stone walls. There may have been peanut shucks on Bunker Hill.

Lion Mountain

Slavery, education and diamonds helped shape the destiny of Sierra Leone.

The small West African land that will soon join the growing roster of independent nations got its start because of British reaction to the brutalities of the 18th-century slave trade.

Though the traffic flourished in Britain's New World colonies, slaves who managed to reach England after 1772 were legally free. Many came, only to become destitute.

To ease the situation, anti-slavery leaders set up a repatriation project. The spot chosen was a beautiful peninsula jutting from Africa's great western bulge. It was called Sierra Leone, or Lion Mountain, from an early description by Portuguese sailors.

Several hundred former slaves were shipped out from London, in 1787, to a strip of Sierra Leone bought from tribal chiefs. The migrants landed at the magnificent harbor of the country's future capital, Freetown.

Tropical disease and hostile neighbors decimated the first settlers. But the project continued under a royal-chartered company that recruited freed slaves overseas and rescued others from the holds of illegal slavers.

In 1808, the British government took Sierra Leone under its wing as a Crown Colony. For their part, the people of the African community looked to England with pride as the perfect model for advancement.

At the peak of a 19th-century Golden Age, Sierra Leone was called the Athens of West Africa. Many of its children were educated in the British Isles.

The slang expression "greenhorn" was originally used in reference to a cow, deer or other horned animal when its horns were immature. In its applied sense, the expression is traced as far back as 1682.

Reuther Tailoring Contract Talks

By Victor Riesel

CLEVELAND
Some days ago Walter Reuther was one of John Kennedy's guests at the official White House luncheon for the premier of Greece. Another guest noted that the auto union chief seemed less global and more intense than usual — and, recalling that the Detroiters soon would launch a full campaign against the auto industry, wondered what Reuther would really fight for, really strike for late this summer.

Victor Riesel

This second guest, being close to the President of the U.S., and therefore eager to know, made inquiries. There have been no definitive answers.

There is only the feeling that there is no magic phrase, no quick formula to be thrown at the industry when the contracts expire in late August and early September.

It's only when you get into the field and move through the industrial belt that you hear again and again that this year Reuther and his colleagues in the auto-union high command will not ask the same thing of all companies.

REUTHER is expected to tailor-make his demands to fit each firm. If what one hears in the field is true, Reuther will ask more from the big auto firms than from the small ones, or the less profitable ones, or the less automated ones.

He will ask the government in some fashion to help the smaller plants — and will urge the industry to join him in a united front in this drive on the government and Congress.

As Reuther and his colleagues have put it during their own discussions of their Special Collective Bargaining Convention, they want the big producers in effect to subsidize the small metal industry plants.

For example, wherever there are smaller "feeder" factories, regional auto union leaders have been disturbed by the dwindling auto parts industry.

There have been reports that there actually are shops where only men with 25 to 35 years seniority are still working. The others have been laid off.

In some areas shops themselves have simply gone out of business. Why? It's the nature of the industry.

THE CAR MAKERS have been doing what comes naturally. As the larger firms build new automatic factories they include electronic machines which also make spare parts. So they buy less and less from feeder plants.

A decade ago there was a springy auto parts business. It supplied metal stampings, door handles, batteries, coils, steering gear, distributors, dye castings, electric accessories, ignition systems, bumpers, frames, spark plugs, etc.

Now the auto companies, more and more, are making this equipment themselves. Thus there has been a shift away from the small plants. The big companies over the year maintain their work force. But not the feeder people.

However, with a 60 per cent increase in production since 1946, there are scores of thousands fewer jobs in the auto production business. This despite the more majestic mechanism which is today's car — replete with power drive, automatic windows, and air conditioning. All of these would be expected to use more manpower, not less.

WHAT REUTHER, in effect, now appears to seek is a formula for sharing the work so the smaller plants can survive. From the talk in the field, it seems that the auto union will go to the most successful firms and say, cut the work week or the work year in some fashion.

How? Give longer vacations. Or a three months' sabbatical after long employment. Or extended sick leave. Or earlier retirement.

But this would not apply to the smaller auto firms, nor to the feeder plants. The less prosperous businesses would not be asked to cut their work week or work year. Thus a small plant, say, with 200 workers earning $100 for a 40-hour week would be able to compete with a large corporation making its own parts. Because, under the union plan, the large corporation would have to pay its people $100 a week for what really is a 35 or 38-hour week when averaged over a year in which there are longer paid vacations or sick leaves.

If the big auto companies will not go for such formulas, then the auto union high command will say let's all of us go to the government and get help in some fashion.

This is the thinking, five months before Reuther again, makes the big bold headlines.

For Sake Of Security

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON
President Kennedy and members of his administration suggest the American press, for the sake of national security, might practice self-censorship of the news.

It is not clear: (1) Whether the administration has thought this through; (2) Whether it is uneasy about the amount of information being printed on American foreign involvements or (3) Whether the administration is planning to take some foreign action soon.

But the idea is to keep the Communist world from learning every American move, even though this might deprive the American public of information vitally affecting it. Kennedy made the proposal in a speech Thursday night in New York.

Unusual White House activity—a series of top level conferences—in recent days has caused some speculation that the President may be considering some foreign action, such as intervention to save Laos or South Viet Nam, or some move involving Cuba.

In the past week members of the administration have complained some misinformation was printed about Cuba. But no one has done more to confuse information on Cuba than administration officials who talked anonymously and contradicted each other.

But the question of how much thinking Kennedy has done on the subject before suggesting self-censorship by the American press is caused by an episode earlier this week.

On Monday and Tuesday Kennedy and some of his top men talked in the State Department auditorium to newspaper editors gathered from around the country. The purpose was to give them a fill-in on America's foreign problems.

But the administration laid down a rule before the talks began: Although what the officials said could be reported, none of them could be identified by name as saying any of it.

Their remarks could only be attributed to "high officials" or "authoritative sources." Thus newspaper readers were deprived of full information. They were left to wonder who each "high official" was and who was responsible for saying what.

But at the same time the Washington Post reported the administration let a correspondent from the Polish Communist party daily Tribuna Ludu, sit in with the American editors to hear what the administration officials were saying.

So, while American readers were left baffled about what, what, the Communist world was in a position to get a complete fill-in on everything said, with each speaker identified for the Communist bosses back home.

Self-censorship was suggested by one of the officials who talked to the editors. Then Thursday night Kennedy devoted a whole speech to it in his talk to the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

The President, pointing out that this country is in a deadly struggle with communism, which can impose secrecy on its every move suggested that editors, when trying to decide whether to use a certain story, ask themselves not only, "Is it news?" but also, "Is it in the national interest?"

Kennedy said he himself has no intention of suggesting government censorship and he said he wants no one in his administration to interpret his remarks Thursday night as a license to censor news.

But this week they did in effect impose a limited kind of censorship in two different ways:

1. When administration officials talked about the Cuban disaster to the editors but would not permit what they said to be attributed to them by name.

2. When other key administration men talked to groups of reporters about the cause of the Cuban invasion failure and again, while permitting use of what they said, would not permit use of their names as saying it.

The result of this anonymity—because one "high official" contradicted what another "high official" said—was a first class information mess.

While the Kennedy administration itself may not have been confused by events its officials talked about, it managed to create confusion.

This New York speech will not be remembered as one of Kennedy's clearest. While he said "this administration intends to be candid about its errors," it has not been candid about the errors in the Cuban invasion.

And although the President said, "I have complete confidence in the response and dedication of our citizens whenever they are fully informed," the kind of self-censorship he suggests would keep the citizenry less than fully informed.

A Welter Of Words

By David Lawrence

Kennedy Proposals Seen Lacking Long-Term View

What's the hurry—or isn't there hurry enough? The first three months of the Kennedy Administration give an impression of hustle and bustle, if not better — skelter. Much has been promised and much has been talked about on television and in the press but very little in the way of concrete accomplishment. David Lawrence plishment toward the building of a sound economy is as yet in sight.

While the public opinion polls show that the President has gained in popularity since the election, members of Congress who have taken soundings back home say that the Kennedy legislative program hasn't achieved the support that a new administration would naturally expect.

There's a reason for this paradox. The truth is the people are bewildered by the tens of thousands of words from task forces and academicians.

Twenty-nine messages totaling about 58,000 words have been sent to Congress by President Kennedy as contrasted with a third of that many words in 15 messages in the first 90 days of the Eisenhower administration in 1953. The members of Congress are baffled, too. When the committees in both houses begin seriously to study the numerous legislative proposals of the President, it is likely that there'll be more support for the main points of his program.

Messages with carefully balanced phrases are not, of course, a substitute for laws to be written by Congress. The country still doesn't know just what kind of tax program it can expect. Nothing is more important than the tax rates which corporations and individuals are expected to pay.

The chief trouble with the administration's proposals on tax changes is that they have been drawn by inexperienced men who are more theoretical than practical.

The President's message on tax reform was drafted by persons who are apparently versed in theories of taxation but know little about what really makes business grow.

Temporary expedients may be important but long-range planning is even more so. A tax plan that's temporary isn't likely to be taken as seriously as one that will cover a fixed period within which expenditures for modernization or replacement of plant or equipment are made.

EXPANSION of business is not an overnight affair or confined to a single year. Take the matter of tax-depreciation allowances. The general public for the most part probably didn't read the president's message—it was necessarily technical.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Miss Edith Fone, retiring president of the Young Ladies Sodality of St. Ann Catholic Church, was named May queen for the annual crowning program.

Teachers of Pleasant Heights School entertained the school principal, Miss Ruth Baxter, at a dinner in the home of Miss Florence Hill of the Lincoln Highway.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Bert Goodballet, First Ward councilman, announced he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor at the August primary.

City Engineer George Bloomgren announced that the city's name would be painted in 14-foot-high letters across the roof of the Frank Crook Co. on E. 5th St. to serve as a landmark for airplane pilots.

TEN YEARS AGO — Marion

It was doubtless read carefully by corporation executives, including the treasurers and the finance committees of various companies.

Here are some typical sentences from Mr. Kennedy's message that spell uncertainty:

"It may be that, on examination, some of the existing depreciation rules will be found to be outmoded and inequitable; but that is a question that should be separated from investment incentives."

"A review of these rules and methods is under way in the Treasury Department as a part of its over-all tax-reform study to determine whether changes are appropriate and, if so, what form they should take."

"Adoption of the proposed incentive credit would in no way foreclose later action on these aspects of depreciation."

One would think from this statement that the subject of tax-depreciation allowances is something new and hasn't been studied before.

The new tax-incentive plan is really a sop to business—an attempt to quiet the growing clamor for a sensible policy on depreciation allowances.

What kind of planning can be done for the next five years upon reading the President's message?

HERE IS ONE paragraph in it which is an example of how to confuse business:

"I believe this investment tax credit will become a useful and continuous part of our tax structure. But it will be a new venture and remain in need of review. Moreover, it may prove desirable for the Congress to modify the credit from time to time, so as to adapt it to the needs of a changing economy."

Just as a business reaches the middle stage of a three- or five-year program, the Congress or the Treasury by regulation can upset the whole apple cart.

Who wants to take risks of that kind in business?

The usual argument—and it runs through the Kennedy message—is that the Treasury cannot afford the loss in revenue in this or that plan, so the sensible and logical thing cannot be done because it "may cause a loss of revenue."

It's the same old story. The administration's advisers do not take into account apparently that a temporary reduction to accomplish a basic reform can be followed by a huge increase in Treasury tax receipts over a long period.

The tendency, unfortunately, is to urge short-term remedies and this in turn produces short-term recoveries and recurring recessions.

Sooner or later, the Congress will have to write a new tax law and it is to be hoped that the actual operations of American business and the requirement for planning over periods longer than just a few months or a year will be given serious consideration.

the work will be given by city officials in order that parked cars can be removed to clear the way for the patching and crowning. Application of the oil will follow shortly afterward.

In the last two years, neighborhood property - owners' groups have been formed to raise the cost of the oil, which the city then applied free.

Groups of property - owners formed informal associations to collect contributions to cover the cost, then turned over the money at City Hall.

The last year in which the city paid the entire cost of the program was in 1958, when it was financed out of income tax revenue.

It's the second street program announced by Council this week. On Monday, the councilmen revealed a program for paving or resurfacing streets with the city splitting the cost equally with property - owners. Three groups already have obtained petitions to participate in the street program.

Weirton Child Hurt
In W. 8th St. Mishap

A 2-year-old Weirton girl was injured slightly Thursday at 6:56 p.m. when her father's station wagon and a foreign compact car were involved in a collision on W. 8th St. approximately 250 feet north of Lisbon St., police reported.

Susan Radeka, daughter of Nicholas Radeka, 24, was examined at City Hospital and then referred to her family physician.

Police said Radeka's halted 1955 station wagon was hit from behind by a 1959 German-made sedan driven by William J. Koonitz, 42, of 1326 Hillcrest, Wellsville.

Radeka said he was halted in a lane of traffic. Koonitz said he attempted to halt, but the brakes on his auto apparently failed. He was driving a car owned by K. & P. Motors, 313 Wells Ave., Wellsville, police said.

The collision damaged the front end of the foreign compact and the rear trunk, bumper and fender of Radeka's auto, police said.

Both Higher, Secondary Level

Congo Faces Enormous Problems In Education

A prime need of the Congo is education—but there are enormous difficulties, both on the higher and secondary level. They are explained in this last of a series on the Congo's big problems by John A. Kennedy, publisher and editor-in-chief of the Stour Falls Argus-Leader, and Mrs. Kennedy. They just completed a tour of the troubled nation.

By JOHN A. KENNEDY

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—There were only 19 native Congolese college graduates in the whole of the Congo at the time it received independence last July.

In that fact, according to Dr. M. Dartique, senior educational consultant to the United Nations, lies the explanation for most of the Congo's troubles today.

He had traveled through the six provinces of the country on his special duties as a UNESCO representative several times before. On those trips he questioned the Belgians as to why they didn't send Congolese secondary school graduates to Brussels or other centers for university training.

The answers invariably were, he said, that students who were sent from other African colonies to England, France, or the United States to study came back as "partially educated radicals."

Mrs. Kennedy and I got about the same answers in our tour of the Congo, talking with its experts, inspecting its schools and colleges two years ago.

The Belgians started to create a university—Louvainium—that would be a credit to any nation. It is modeled after the centuries-old institution of the same name in the mother country.

More than $15 million was poured into its modern, beautiful, efficient plant and laboratories.

It opened in 1954 with 33 students described by Monsignor L. Gillon, its president, as an "audacious move," considering the difficulty in recruiting students.

When we visited the Congo first in 1959, they had 450 students in its various colleges, two thirds of whom were Belgians. When we visited this time, all but 10 were Africans. There is a college of medicine, agronomy, engineering, and a school of law is being started. Louvainium's hospital is as modern as any in the United States.

The question of secondary education in the Congo is no less urgent.

Two years ago in Elisabethville, Mrs. Kennedy and I visited a Congolese grammar school. It was of the four-year variety but had students ranging in age from 8 to 25.

Its director complained of a serious problem—the older students, when finished, didn't want to go to secondary school. Because of their age they felt they should be able to enter universities and colleges on graduation—the equivalent of completion of the sixth and seventh grade in the United States.

The lack of a school system with sufficiently high standards on the secondary level, Monsignor Gillon says, is the worst problem facing the Congo.

"The aid which countries abroad must give the Congo is first and foremost a direct effort in the development of secondary education," he said. "In the immediate future, this aid must provide the Congo with secondary school teachers and help the Congo train its own teachers for this level of education."

Primary education was being pushed by the Belgians in the few years before independence—but unfortunately too little and too late.

There were about 1,500,000 students in schools before the chaotic independence of last July, but more than 900,000 were in the first two grades.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make an interesting walk or terrace of concrete stepping-stones, such as clover-leaf, diamond, heart, or other attractive shapes?

A. Bend a light sheet-metal strip around a wooden form of the desired shape and screw it to the form. Place your concrete mixture (you can procure this ready-mixed) into the form, and let it set. When the mixture has hardened, set your stones in the ground, arranged in the order or design you have planned.

Q. How can I treat tired nerves?

A. Heat some milk to the scalding point, add a little salt, and drink it as hot as possible. This is also a sleep producer.

Q. How can I remove a glass cork which has broken off in the neck of a bottle?

A. Hold the neck in boiling water for a few minutes, and then tap gently with a wood block.

Farmers Signup Set For Hancock

The signup of farmers in Hancock County for the 1961 feed grain program is expected to get underway this week, according to C. C. Herron, chairman of the County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The program provides payments to corn and grain sorghum producers who divert a portion of the acreage formerly planted to these crops to an approved conservation use.

The average county rate is $28.30 per acre for reducing such acreage a minimum of 20 per cent below the base 1959-60 average.

Wool growers are reminded that Monday is the final date for filing applications for payments under the 1960 wool program. The 1960 program payments will apply to shorn wool and unshorn lambs marketed not later than March 31 this year. Later marketings will be eligible for payments under the 1961 wool program.

Wool program applications should be filed at the County ASC office in New Cumberland by Monday.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Ideal Size Determined By Body Build

Ida Jean Kain

Ideal dress size is determined by one's body build. We inherit the tendency to be short or tall and to have a slight, medium or large frame. We have no choice in the matter. Excess fat alters this basic design. Here we have a choice since fat is not inherited. Food habits can be changed.

A perplexed reader has written to ask what size she might hope to wear. She has never been normal weight and so cannot picture her perfect size. She writes:

"I am the mother of three preschoolers. I have been at least 20 pounds overweight since the eighth grade. I can't picture my right size.

"MY DOCTOR HAS advised me to reduce. I've been on and off many diets and after a few days get irritable. I rationalize, 'My family would rather have me fat and happy than thin and jumpy.' Also I'm not a great one for exercises.

"I am willing to really try this time. I believe it would help if I could get a picture in my mind of my right size. I can't picture it, but if you can, it will be a real incentive.

"I am 5 feet 8½ tall, with wide shoulders, big hip bones and small wrists. I weigh 170 pounds. Bust 38, waist 31, hips 43. Do you think a goal of 145 pounds in three months is too much to expect and what size should I fit into?"

First, sizes. In an effort to standardize women's sizes, the Department of Commerce in co-operation with ready-to-wear manufacturers, have set up the following figure types:

Juniors — sizes 7 to 19 (with three proportioned heights); misses — sizes 8 to 22; tall misses — sizes 10 to 20; short misses or brief — sizes 8 to 18; half sizes — 10½ to 24½; women — sizes 30 to 42; tall women — sizes 32 to 40; larger women — sizes 42 to 53. All women fit into one of these size categories.

Back to our model: You will look and feel your buoyant self at 150 to 152 pounds. Aim for size 16-tall, with these measurements: Bust 37, waist 28½, abdominal extension 35½, hips 40. (Hip measurement for the tall girl, size 16-tall with slender hips is 38½.)

Ask your favorite salesgirl to show you a snappy number in size 16-tall. Fix the size in your mind, visualize yourself in it with a definite flair.

SPEND EIGHT minutes every day on precision calisthenics to slim three inches off the derriere-area. Picture the pointer on the scales smack on the 132 mark. It is a psychological truth that we tend to become like that which we habitually picture.

Whip into action and you can reach your goal by the 4th of July — Independence Day!

Send a stamped, self-addressed long envelope for "Hunger Control Diet" and "Slim Hips In A Hurry." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Bond Issue Waits Vote

to best serve the large district, and was approved by the Board of Education with the aid of a citizens' group.

The survey team based its decisions on indications of population growth in the outlying areas of the district. At present there are 1,056 students attending Southern Local school, with about 70 district students attending Wellsville High School and some 30 more attending high school at Lisbon.

School officials pointed out the need for additional classrooms and school facilities, and the failing condition of the Central School, an elementary structure at Salineville built in 1895. The present high school is 24 years old.

Officials said the state fire inspector has made a partial check of the grade school, reporting a number of hazards, but has delayed any final check and ruling pending the outcome of the vote on the bond issue.

Tentative plans call for the present high school to be utilized as a grade school, and the Central building to be abandoned.

PLANNED HIGH SCHOOL for Southern Local School District is this one-story brick building, depicted in a sketch from plans prepared by Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect. The inverted L-shaped structure would have administrative offices in the front to the right, and lecture classrooms in the wing extending to the left. Immediately to the rear, in the right of the larger section, would be the gymnasium, stage, multipurpose room, kitchen and music room. In the left of the larger section would be the study halls, home economics rooms and boiler room. A drafting room and industrial arts section would be in the left rear. The building would accommodate between 325 and 400 students. The present high school now has 230.

Proponents of the bond issue list the need for more school space, room for future growth, and say the new school will unify the district and provide a better educational program. The new school would also eliminate street and traffic problems.

Some opposition has been voiced concerning the transfer of high school facilities from Salineville, and the added costs of the project. However, bond issue backers point to other area centralized school moves, and the needless expenses of repairs or limited efficiency of the present program.

Cost of the bond issue will be 4.1 mills plus the half-mill to help repay the grant. Both are for 23-year periods.

Under the present tax valuation, the cost would amount to $4.60 cents per $1,000 assessed property valuation. No increase in this amount is anticipated under the revised property valuations to be effective in the recent reappraisal.

steel and products made of steel in our industrial area, and promotion of the sale of products made of steel.

The mayor's proclamation calls upon "all citizens, merchants and manufacturers in this area to lend their support and goodwill by actively participating in this program."

"In recognition of the stake our communities have in the steel industry, we hereby adopt the Steelmark of the steel industry and products made of steel as the official symbol of our program," it adds.

The program is aimed at "strengthening the sinews of commerce and emphasizing the important role steel plays in our community life," the proclamation says. "In so doing, we are helping to insure the public security of our fellow towns people, strengthen the purchasing power of our community and maintain the economic health of the entire area."

In connection with the local Steelmark program, East Liverpool merchants next week will feature 15 window and store displays furnished by the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

The program here is being arranged by the East Liverpool Merchants Association, Chamber of Commerce and Jaycees.

Next Thursday through Saturday, East Liverpool merchants will conduct a sale centering around products made of steel. Participating stores will distribute half-price tickets good for rides on carnival amusements which will be set up on Washington St. between E. 5th and 6th Sts.

The city's program will end Saturday, May 6, with a "Salute to Steel" parade being arranged by Jaycees. In addition to musical and marching units, it will feature a host of new autos, emphasizing Detroit's role as a major consumer of steel.

consideration of self-censorship: "If the press is awaiting a declaration of war before it imposes the self-discipline of combat conditions then I can only say that no war ever posed a greater threat to our security.

"If you are awaiting a finding of 'clear and present danger,' then I can only say that the danger has never been more clear and its presence has never been more imminent."

Kennedy said that to meet "this national peril" there are two requirements: far greater public information as well as far greater official secrecy.

He was applauded when he said no administration official should exploit his remarks to censor news, cover up mistakes or "withhold from the press and the public the facts they deserve to know."

He again was applauded—for the only other time in his speech—when he said no president should fear public scrutiny of his program and asked the help of publishers "in the tremendous task of informing and alerting the American people."

In stern language, the President lectured newspapers for having recognized what he termed "only the tests of journalism and not the tests of national security," in the absence of open warfare, in their handling of some of the news.

Says Foes Get Information
"For the facts of the matter are," the President said, "that this nation's foes have openly boasted of acquiring through our newspapers information they would otherwise hire agents to acquire through theft, bribery, or espionage; that details of this nation's covert preparations to counter the enemy's covert operations have been available to every newspaper reader, friend and foe alike; that the size, the strength, the location and the nature of our forces and weapons, and our plans and strategy for their use, have all been pinpointed in the press and other news media to a degree sufficient to satisfy any foreign power; and that, in at least one case, the publication of details concerning a secret mechanism in our possession required its alternation at the expense of considerable time and money."

He named no newspapers.

A former newspaperman himself for a brief period, Mr. Kennedy said the papers which printed these stories were loyal, patriotic and well meaning and undoubtedly would not have published them had the nation been engaged in open warfare.

'No Censoring Of News'
No official of his administration, high or low, civilian or military, Mr. Kennedy said, "should interpret my words here tonight as an excuse to censor the news, to stifle dissent, to cover up our mistakes or to withhold from the press and the public the facts they deserve to know."

Mr. Kennedy, also told the press it shares with him an obligation to inform and alert the American people so that they have "and understand the facts, the perils, the prospects, the purposes of the national program and the choices that must be made."

"The press, he said, must inform and arouse, lead and educate and sometimes even anger public opinion."

This, he said, means more coverage and analysis of international news, greater attention to improved understanding of the news as well as improved transmission.

It means, too, the President said, that government at all levels must meet its obligation to provide the press with the fullest possible information outside of narrow limitations.

This administration, he said "intends to meet the obligation to a degree never before approached by any nation in the world."

Will Be Candid About Errors

This is not yet Utopia, the President said, so he isn't asking newspapers to support him at all times on editorial pages—only that they help in the tremendous task of informing and alerting the people.

The man who has been saying he assumes full responsibility for this country's policies and role in the debacle of the Cuban invasion told the publishers his administration intends to be candid about its errors.

As a wise man once said, Mr. Kennedy recalled, "an error doesn't become a mistake until he refuse to correct it."

"We intend," he assured, "to accept full responsibility for our errors; and we expect you to point them out when we miss them."

"Without debate, without criticism, no administration can succeed—and no republic can survive."

Suspects Post Bonds On Kidnaping Charge

Two men charged with kidnaping in the abduction - robbery of a Newell motorist late Monday night were released on $5,000 bonds Thursday after arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Edmund Miller at Hagerstown, Md.

They are Constantinos G. Psihogios, 23, of Sardis and Harry J. Sembrakis, 27, of Chicago, accused of robbing James E. Graham, 229 Washington St., Newell, and stealing his auto after he picked them up as hitchhikers at E. 3rd St. and Broadway. Graham said the two men aimed him with a gun, then put him afoot on an isolated road in Beaver County.

Federal charges were brought because the forced ride crossed the West Virginia-Pennsylvania state line. The two were arrested Tuesday at Hagerstown. An FBI agent in Baltimore said the bureau is investigating the possibility the pair may have entered the U.S. illegally from Greece.

DST To Begin Sunday; Turn Clocks Ahead

The Tri-State area and much of the eastern part of the nation will make the switch to Daylight Saving Time officially Sunday at 2 a.m.

Clocks will be moved ahead one hour to take advantage of the early-morning daylight now going to waste. The fast time will prevail until Oct. 29.

The area fast time belt extends downriver to below Wheeling for communities on both sides of the Ohio Valley and throughout Western Pennsylvania and North-eastern Ohio.

Most Eastern states also will drop Eastern Standard Time until autumn. Youngstown, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Akron and Pittsburgh are among larger cities making the switch. Columbus, Cincinnati, Springfield, Dayton and Toledo are among communities in Western and Central Ohio remaining on standard time.

All television stations switch to fast time so there should be no confusion in following favorite TV fare.

Residents should turn the clocks ahead an hour before retiring Saturday night to avoid missing church or other events Sunday.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Hollywood's No Place For Nice Guys

It used to be that Hollywood was considered a very dangerous place for a girl without experience. Eliza's crossing the ice in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was a pleasure trip compared to what a fresh young belle faced while trying to make her way alone in Hollywood.

All that is changed. The Hal Humphrey girls have learned how to say no and still get what they want. It's the boys we must worry about now. The town is turning them into first-rate schlemiels.

"If you come on as a nice guy here, they carve you up five different ways," says Wayne Rogers. "Hustle, drive and aggressiveness are the prerequisites for success in this town. You've got to be a heel," says Wayne Rogers.

WAYNE IS—or was—that nice fellow who plays Luke Perry, one of the stage drivers in the ABC-TV series, "Stagecoach West." He has been in Hollywood only a little more than 18 months. Already Wayne is studying to be a no-good rat.

"Actually I hope I can go on being a nice guy. But if I stay in Hollywood, I'll have to develop a built-in mechanism of some kind, so that when the situation demands it I can push a button, so to speak, and be a heel."

Although billed as one of the stars on his series, Wayne was relegated to a cramped, dilapidated dressing room on the old Republic lot where "Stagecoach West" is put together.

"I didn't mind the size of it. I can change clothes anywhere, but the room was dirty. I asked nice and polite-like if it could be cleaned up. Nothing happened. Then one morning, I called up and said, 'I don't come to work until that dressing room is cleaned.'"

WAYNE'S temperamental ultimatum not only got the desired action, but a few days later he was given Steve McQueen's former dressing room, a much larger layout which has air-conditioning and other appurtenances commensurate with star status.

"It wasn't because they had any more respect for me," says Wayne. "But if I hadn't come to work that day, it would have cost them $10,000. Money they respect and understand, and also some heel who is in a position to take some of it away from them."

Wayne was surprised to discover that getting McQueen's dressing room brought him more respect from the rest of the stars and executives on the lot. A dressing room is not just a place to change clothes, as Wayne thought, but it is one of Hollywood's status symbols.

"YOU HEAR producers, directors and agents talking about what a heel McQueen is, but now that his TV series is gone, he's got more movie work than he can handle.

"Dick Boone is supposed to be a heel, but CBS just gave him $1.5 million to do Paladin another year. Sinatra is called a first-class bum by everyone I meet out here, but look where he is. And Hugh O'Brian hasn't done badly either, for being a heel." Wayne was born and reared in Birmingham, Ala., and went to school at Princeton. He was surviving very nicely with a job in a brokerage office among the bulls and bears of Wall Street. But the acting bug hit him, and he gave it all up to wait on tables at Schrafft's and attend New York's Neighborhood Playhouse.

Soon after he hit Hollywood, Wayne was offered a role in a TV pilot film being shot at 20th Century-Fox. He read the script and turned it down.

THE NEXT EVENING at a party where the 20th bosses were in attendance, Wayne even told them why he didn't like the script.

"On the very next day, my agent called and said they had offered me twice the money originally quoted. They just thought I was being difficult and didn't believe me about the script."

"I tell you the system is a phony one here, and you've got to be one of the vicious ones to survive in it," says Wayne, who still has half of the round-trip ticket he bought when he left New York.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm engaged to a Naval officer who is the most wonderful person I've ever known. We became officially engaged at Christmas and it wasn't until last week that I learned he doesn't love me. He still loves a girl he was pinned to in college.

She is married now and he says he never thinks about her when I am with him—only when we're apart.

He is very reluctant to lose me because he says I will make a wonderful wife. Yet he doesn't feel it is fair to marry me knowing he is still in love with someone else. Shall I stick by him until he finds himself?—HEADACHE.

Dear Headache: If you think you've got a headache now, just marry a fellow who tells you he is still in love with an old sweetheart.

I suspect your fiancé is looking for an escape hatch and if you're wise you'll give him an honorable discharge.

let them win. He'll snatch the newspaper out of anyone's hands and turn the TV dial in the middle of a program.

I don't let my boys behave this way. How can I make my husband grow up?—MOTHER OF A MAN.

Dear Mother: And how old was the infant when you married him? This kind of behavior goes a long way back.

You'll probably never "grow him up" but perhaps you can shame him into behaving in a more adult manner. When he grabs things out of people's hands, say, "Shame on you, Sonny, that's rude."

When he opens mail not addressed to him, say, "Some little boy is very nosy!"

If this doesn't help, it may at least make you feel better.

Luck Is All Bad

Dear Ann: I'm a waitress, 17 years of age, but could pass for older. I give you my word that I'm a good girl but for some reason I seem to attract married men and no-good liars.

After I go out with a man I think is respectable, it turns out he's married and has a family. This has happened to me five times and I'm wondering why.

Four of us girls go to a couple of dance halls on Friday and Saturday night and it's there that I seem to have such miserable luck. The first question I ask a man is, "Are you married?" They all say, "No." Then, after a few dates, the truth comes out. Why do I pick the lemons?—FRITZIE.

Dear Fritz: Because you're picking in a lemon grove. Peaches don't grow there.

Girls who tag it to public dance halls can expect to find all sorts of people. As a rule, decent fellows aren't on the prowl looking for stray numbers.

A girl 17 should make her social contacts through friends, church or school groups. It's pretty risky to say, "How do you do?" to a strange man and then get acquainted on the dance floor.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Corn producers on two farms in Beaver County so far have filed forms indicating their intention to participate in the 1961 feed grain program, Mark Hilliker, chairman of the Beaver County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced today.

The chairman said that 36.2 acres of corn on the "participating" farms have been signed up for diversion to conservation uses. Negotiable certificates issued as payments for diversion from corn production have a total value of $646.

10 More Players Are Named In Basketball Fixing Scandal

3 St. Joseph Cagers Cited

By DON WEISS
NEW YORK (AP)—The cloud of a widespread bribery scandal that had hung ominously over college basketball for six weeks has descended, engulfing 10 more players from six more schools.

There were strong indications today that more disclosures and possible indictments resulting from point shaving and game fixing were due from the district attorney's office.

The term of the grand jury investigating college basketball has been extended until June 30, Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan said after announcing a 37-count indictment for corruption against previously convicted football fixer Aaron Wagman of New York.

The indictment, confirming earlier reports that the scandal might mushroom to equal or top the size of the one that jolted the game in 1951, named 10 players from six colleges in the East and South and cited 26 games played in 13 cities. One player was named as one of four co-conspirators.

Together with previous disclosures, it brought the count of the current scandal to 12 players from seven schools. The 1951 scandal involved 33 players from seven schools. Hogan also conducted the investigation then.

The players named Thursday were:

Jack Egan, high-scoring ace of St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, which finished third in the National Collegiate Tournament last month, and two teammates—Vince Kempton of Cambria Heights, N. Y., and Frank Majewski of Jersey City, N. J.

Egan, who said he "needed the money," is married and the father of two children. He lives in Bethlehem, Pa., and Thursday night was to have been honored at a banquet as St. Joseph's outstanding athlete. The banquet went on without him.

Ed Bowler, sophomore at La-

VINCE KEMPTON
St. Joseph Star Named.

Salle College in Philadelphia, from Jersey City.

Jerry Graves, All-Southeastern Conference star at Mississippi State, from Jackson, Tenn.

Dick Fisher, senior, Memphis, and Ed Test, senior, Chattanooga, both of the University of Tennessee.

Pete Kelly, senior, Orlando, Fla., and Glenn Cross, senior, Williamst, Conn., both of the University of Connecticut.

Lou Brown, senior, Jersey City, of North Carolina.

All but Brown, were granted immunity from prosecution for their testimony, Hogan said, adding that each allegedly accepted or agreed to accept from Wagman sums ranging from $750 to $1,500 for shaving points in games. The games included one during the 1959-60 season and 25 this past season. Of the 26, Hogan said 12 were "successfully" rigged.

Brown, who played in only two or three games near the end of the season after having been a first-line reserve with the Tar Heels in 1959-60, was not successful, Hogan said, in making such arrangements at North Carolina.

"Brown made efforts to line things up for Wagman at North Carolina," said Hogan, "but he (Brown) was more successful at luring players at St. Joseph's and LaSalle."

As a result, Brown was named a co-conspirator along with Bill Minnerly of White Plains, N. Y., ace halfback of the Connecticut football team; Jerry Vogel of the Bronx, N. Y., and Dan Quindazzi of Yonkers, N. Y., both former Alabama basketball players, and Joseph Green of New York, described as a close associate of Wagman. Green has disappeared and is wanted for questioning.

According to Hogan, all four allegedly were contact men with basketball players—visiting various campuses to make arrangements.

Of the 10 basketball players named, five have been expelled by their schools. So has Minnerly. Bowler has been suspended. Graves was graduated at mid-term. Fisher and Test did not re-enter Tennessee for the spring quarter, and Brown last month withdrew from school.

Beaver Local Runners 2nd At Sebring

Beaver Local High's track forces, still searching for their first victory, are scheduled to participate in a triangular meet today at 4 p. m. at Salem with Cardinal Mooney high the other team.

Coach Jack O'Rourke's squad lost its first dual meet with Toronto, then finished second in a quadrangular meet Wednesday at Sebring.

Sebring finished first in the four-team field, posting 69 points. The Beavers finished second with 60, followed by Western Reserve with 23 and Atwater with 22.

Mike Durbin, in a standout performance despite sloppy footing, won three events for the Beavers. John Detchon won Beaver Local's only other first place.

Durbin won the 100-yard dash with a time of 10.8, the 220-yard dash in 24.3 and the broad jump with a leap of 18 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

Detchon winning time in the 440-yard dash was 57 seconds. The pole vault event was eliminated because of wet grounds.

Waits Trout Season

CHARLESTON (AP)—This was one of the days when West Virginia's fishermen pay more than the usual attention to weather forecasts. The annual trout season opens at 6 a. m., EST, Saturday.

Cecconi, who spoke at Wellsville Thursday night, said Slaby has nailed down the No. 1 fullback position based on the results of spring workouts.

"He's really set on being a good football player," Cecconi said of the 215-pound junior.

Mick Wrecks Tribe At Plate And Field

NEW YORK (AP)—Here comes Jim Perry again.

And if the New York Yankees aren't worried about the lanky Cleveland right-hander, let them take a look at the last two years he faced them in a similar situation.

The first time the New Yorkers saw Perry was May 12, 1959. It was the first night game of the season in the big city and Cal McLish was hanging onto a 7-6 lead. Then he loaded the bases in the eighth inning. There was none out.

In came young Perry from the bullpen. He went on a fanning bee to put out the fire, striking out four of the seven batters he faced. The only hit he surrendered was a double to Tony Kubek opening the ninth frame. But then rookie Perry retired Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra and Elston Howard, nailing down the 7-6 triumph.

Last May 10, the Yankees again played their first home night event against Cleveland. Perry gave up four hits and one run in 7 1/3 innings.

But he turned the chores over to rookie Dick Stigman with the score tied 1-1. The Indians tallied four times in the tenth inning and won 5-1.

That brings us up to the present—to tonight, to be exact. Jim Perry (2-0) will face the Yanks' Ralph Terry (0-0) in the first night game of the season in New York.

Mantle wrecked the Indians Thursday, rapping a tie-breaking triple in the seventh as the Yanks won a 4-3 verdict. Then the fleet centerfielder made a sensational catch on Bubba Phillips' line drive to right center for the final out as a Cleveland runner headed for the plate with what would have been the tying marker.

Art Ditmar halted the Tribe on six hits and Johnny Antonelli went down to his second loss, failing for the third straight time to pitch effectively.

Johnny Temple, with one hit in four trips, stretched his hitting streak to 13 games and continued atop the league's batting department at .455.

South Siders Pull Upset

South Side pulled an upset by nipping Midland, the Section 4 leaders, 6-5, Thursday at Georgetown.

The Rams, with an overall record of 3-5 now, punched across three big runs in the sixth inning to wrap up the victory.

Trailing 5-3 going into the sixth inning, Bill Harshbarger led off with a double and came home on Bernie Livada's single.

Dale Ashcroft walked and Tom Lombard's ground ball advanced both runners. Norman Luther hit a dribbler down the first base line. The catcher fielded the ball, threw to first base but in a collision at the base, the first baseman dropped the ball and both runners scored with the tying and winning runs.

Chuck Schmidt, South Side right-hander, fanned 11 and gave up seven hits.

Schmidt and Livada shared honors at the plate with three hits each. Camp collected three safeties for Midland.

Potter Thinclads Gain 65-53 Win Over Tigers

East Liverpool's over all depth paid off Thursday when the Potter thinclads picked up their second track victory of the season with a 65-53 win over Wellsville at the Patterson Field oval.

The Potters, undefeated in dual meets for the past three seasons, broke even in 14 events but showed complete sweeps in three.

East Liverpool dominated the running events but Coach Ken Woods' Wellsville squad proved stronger in the field.

Dave Harriel became a double winner for the Potters when he captured the 100-yard dash in 10.9 and turned in a 24.5 clocking to win the 220-yard dash.

Jim Pillar, East Liverpool's distance man, recorded his second victory in the mile when he was timed in 4:55.4. The Potters gained all three spots in the mile, 440-yard dash and 880-yard run.

Bill Flanagan won the 440-yard run in 54.5 while Bill Brokaw turned in a 2:13.2 clocking in the half-mile event.

The Potters' mile relay team of Griffith, Thompson, Burns and Flanagan turned in its second victory in 3:45.5.

Dave Lampman was the only Potter to win a field event with a leave of 115-feet-6 in the discus.

EL Nine Registers 1st Win, 15-7, At Chester

Highlighted by a 10-run third inning, the East Liverpool High baseball squad registered its first victory of the season Thursday at Chester with the Panthers becoming a 15-7 victim.

The Potters had lost four straight up until yesterday.

A grand slam home run by East Liverpool's Adkins featured the uprising in the third inning when 13 batters went to the plate.

The Potters collected 11 hits off two Chester pitchers and took advantage of seven Panther errors.

East Liverpool was hitting with men on base while Chester was not, leaving 15 runners stranded.

Burns and Don Hildebrand shared mound duties for East Liverpool with Burns receiving credit for the victory. Bowersock and Burns collected two hits each for the Potters.

Chester hit safely seven times with Jim Tridico belting a double and single in four trips.

Pirate GM On Firing Line . . .

A trip to Pittsburgh and a meeting of the Gus Fan Club was on the agenda this week.

The Gus Fan Club is what you might refer to as a booster club for the Pittsburgh Pirates. It is made up largely of newspaper, radio, television people and interested fans.

The luncheons serve as a firing line, with questions directed at Pirates officials from every direction.

Usually Manager Danny Murtaugh is on the spot, but this week the Buc pilot was fighting the flu and remained at home.

Joe L. Brown, general manager of the Pirates, who is cool as a cucumber on the rostrum, and Bill Burwell, the Pirates' pitching coach, answered the questions in place of Murtaugh.

One member of the fan club wanted to know why Smokey Burgess (a left-handed batter) isn't playing against right-handed pitching.

Brown said there are two instances when Murtaugh doesn't conform with this policy. "One is when we are playing in the Coliseum at Los Angeles. Smith has hit the majority of his major home runs in the Coliseum since he has been a Pirate. The other is when Bob Friend is pitching. For some unknown reason, Smith and Friend work better together."

Cincinnati Rates Darkhorse . . .

Asked about the National League this season, Brown pointed to Cincinnati as the darkhorse. "Cincinnati could possibly win the pennant and is certainly a good shot for the first division. Cincinnati's problem is around second base (meaning shortstop and sec-Hoak's run-ins. Don doesn't get thrown out of games any more than average. The majority of the umpires respect Hoak because they know Don only yells when he thinks he is right. Some players yell just to make themselves look good."

BROWN HOAK MURTAUGH CLEMENTE

ond) and the young pitchers are a question mark at the present, but that is a powerful team."

A question was posed on the 3-day suspension of fiery Don Hoak and whether or not the umpires had it in for Hoak.

The general manager said "the newspapers make an issue of

"In my opinion the suspension handed Hoak was unjust. However, he knows he is on the spot now and must be careful."

Brown was questioned about the progress of the new municipal stadium, which will be the new home of the Pirates some day.

"I don't believe we will be playing in the new stadium for about four years," he replied.

Owens Has Problem . . .

A QUESTION was raised about Jim Owens, the Phillies' "problem child" now living in Midland.

Brown was asked if the Pirates ever attempted to obtain Owens. "We had conversations with the Phils several months ago, but Owens has a problem now and we would just as soon he solved it on another club," Brown replied.

The general manager rates Elroy Face the best relief pitcher. When asked if he thought Ernie Broglio of the Cardinals was the best pitcher in baseball, Brown answered, "No, we have some pretty good ones on our own staff."

Burwell Rates Roberto Tops . . .

BURWELL, who has done about everything and anything in baseball during the past 45 years, said, "Roberto Clemente is the finest defensive outfielder I have ever seen, and there is nobody like Bill Mazeroski on the double play. Bill Virdon has to go down as one of the best too."

Burwell is the man who is responsible for the progress of the Pirate mound staff and is closer to the picture than anyone else. In this capacity he watches the progress intensely and said Joe Gibbon is ready to become a regular starter for the Bucs.

Display Of Sportsmanship . . .

BOB HEDMOND, Potter track coach, deserves a pat on the back for his display of sportsmanship Thursday at Patterson Field during a track meet between East Liverpool and Wellsville.

Although there were no objections from Wellsville, Hedmond disqualified his own 880-yard-relay team when one of the Potter runners cut in too soon, causing a Wellsville participant to shorten up on his stride.

Hedmond took it upon himself to award the race to Wellsville.

Cecconi High On Slaby . . .

"THE HARDEST worker on the Pitt football team!"

That's how Louis "Bimbo" Cecconi, backfield coach of the Panthers, described former Salem High School star, Lou Slaby, who appears to have earned the starting fullback assignment.

Cecconi, who spoke at Wellsville Thursday night, said Slaby has nailed down the No. 1 fullback position based on the results of spring workouts.

"He's really set on being a good football player," Cecconi said of the 215-pound junior.

Beaver Local Wallops Newell, 17-0, For 4th

Beaver Local, cooped up because of bad weather, flexed their muscles in pounding out a 17-0 victory at Newell Thursday afternoon for their fourth straight win of the season.

The Beavers rattled 17 hits while pitchers Dave Myer and Ron Ensinger limited Newell to one safety.

Myer, ace of the Beaver Local staff, hurled five innings, giving up a single to Weirsbecki in the fifth frame. He struck out 10 along the way. Ensinger finished the contest.

Weather permitting, Beaver Local will meet Boardman tonight at Williamsport.

3 Wellsville Athletes Honored At Banquet

Pitt's Cecconi Is Speaker At Omni Affair

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Wellsville High athletes took their bows Thursday night for achievements in successful football and basketball campaigns, at the annual All-Sports banquet.

About 75 athletes, coaches, cheerleaders and guests were present for the dinner in the American Legion Post 70 home.

Highlighting the Omni Booster Club's project were an address by youthful Louis "Bimbo" Cecconi, backfield coach at the University of Pittsburgh, and presentation of awards to the outstanding seniors.

Rugged Phil Baldwin, 185-pound center whose performance for Coach Ken Woods' Tigers last season left little to be desired, was the recipient of a large trophy for being selected as "the outstanding senior performer of the football team."

Bob Kiggins, second leading basketball scorer in the school's history and a fine all-around athlete and scholar, was named the outstanding senior cager.

A tight four-player race for the best foul shot on the varsity basketball squad was won by senior Rod Ferguson whose average of 77.79 per cent was the best. He edged Kiggins, Baldwin and Wilbert Jones for the award, the other three finishing with season averages of 70 per cent plus.

For his services as team physician the past grid season, Dr. D. Y. Campbell was presented a plaque by Charles Stone, vice president of the Booster Club.

Those were the most important awards presented but contributing largely to the success of the event were Cecconi's humorous remarks on the coaching game.

"Bimbo," who appeared in trim physical condition and looks young enough to be one of Pitt's students, told the Tiger group that "mental attitude is one of the most important factors in either high school or college sports."

Cecconi, 32, is remembered as one of the smartest quarterbacks and most dangerous runners and passers in Pitt's history although weighing only 160 pounds.

He has been termed a "thrill" player, having the ability to make the big play — a long punt return, pass interception, or long run — in the darkest of moments or when appeared trapped by the opposition.

Cecconi is a product of Donora High School, the town associated with such "champions" as Stan (The Man) Musial and Deacon Dan Towler. He compiled an overall record of 27-12-6 while coach at Sharpsburg High. He received his master's degree from Pitt in 1956, is married and has five children.

Cecconi told the Tigers that "you have to work for success and give up a few things in life to be a success. Give your best all the time and give up some little pleasure in life," he advised the Wellsville performers in a few serious moments.

Cecconi concluded his address by reciting "The Indispensable Man," a poem which appeared to prove there is no such thing.

Coach Jack McDevitt presented basketball awards to Phil Baldwin, Rick Gray, Jones, Ben Cannadate, Ferguson and Kiggins, seniors; Roger Ours, junior, and Steve Baldwin, sophomore. Managers Richard Malone, Robert Hamilton and Larry Baughman also received letters.

Coach Ken Woods introduced the track team in a group. He presented wall plaques to athletes who have participated in the school's three major sports, an innovation this year of the Boosters Club.

Recipients of the orange and black plaques were Leo Pearson, John Euill, Kiggins, Jack Cataldo, Alvin Thompson, Alvin Jackson, Andy Dash and Frank Lukino.

The award for outstanding senior on the track squad will be presented later because this year's campaign is not yet concluded.

Cheerleaders were introduced by their coach. Guests introduced included Dr. S. E. Daw, Principal William Menough, Coaches Roy Hodge, George Lawson and Carl Firm, Dr. Campbell and Ed Pugh of the Wellsville Press.

Williams Hurls Two-Hitter At Nats; Wynn Posts 286th As White Sox Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Hall, a right-hander acquired from Kansas City along with utilityman Dick Williams, pitched a two-hit, 5-0 victory over Washington for the Baltimore Orioles Thursday night. Early Wynn gained his 286th career victory and Minnie Minoso drove in five runs as the Chicago White Sox rapped Kansas City 9-1 in the only other night game.

In the other AL games, Minnesota regained first place by routing the Los Angeles Angels' home debut 4-2, Detroit skidded to second with a 5-2 defeat by the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees beat Cleveland 4-3.

Chicago's Cubs whipped Cincinnati 5-2 in the lone National League game scheduled.

The only hits Hall allowed the Senators were singles—one in the fourth inning by Danny O'Connell and the other with two out in the ninth by pinch-hitter Joe Hicks. The Orioles were shut out on two hits by rookie Joe McClain until the seventh. Then Brooks Robinson doubled and scored on Russ Snyder's sacrifice fly after two walks—the first allowed by McClain (2-1) in 23 2/3 innings. Consecutive singles by Williams, Whitey Herzog and Robinson then got the Birds started on a four-run spurt in the eighth.

The White Sox staked Wynn, now 2-0, to a quick lead against loser Bud Daley (1-3) with three runs in the first. Minoso drove in the last two with a double, then singled home two more in the third inning.

A three-run homer by Earl Battey brought the Twins from behind in the sixth against the Angels, who now have lost eight in a row. Camilo Pascual (2-0) was the winner. Eli Grba, who nailed the Angels' lone victory in the season opener, lost his second.

Canton Selected As Site For NFL's Hall Of Fame

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Professional football was born here on Sept. 17, 1920. Now the owners of the National Football League have picked this city of 112,750 as the site for a NFL Hall of Fame.

"It was like bringing a new industry to Canton," said Bob Colaneri, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, when told the owners had accepted Canton's bid at their meeting in San Francisco Thursday.

Colaneri led a 14-man committee, along with Malcolm Kienzie, to bring the Hall of Fame here. Mayor Charles L. Babcock, praised the award by the NFL owners: "It is a great contribution to this city's prestige as a football center."

Colaneri said a meeting will be called within two weeks to accelerate plans. He said 1963 is the target date for opening the grid shrine.

A 14-acre tract in the city's beautiful and sprawling park system is the site picked for construction of the building. It adjoins Fawcett Stadium, Canton's high school football plant. The area is near the William McKinley monument.

Earl Schreiber, athletic director of the Timken Roller Bearing Co., a firm which gave great effort to get the Hall of Fame here, said: "We are elated. Now we hope to show that the confidence placed in us by the NFL is not misplaced."

The league plans to hold a pre-season game here annually starting as soon as possible, but not in 1961.

The NFL was formed in a Canton garage and among the men at the original meeting was George Halas, current president of the Chicago Bears. The league then was called the American Professional Football League. It was changed to its present name less than a year later. The first president was Jim Thorpe, the great Indian athlete, who then played for the Canton Bulldogs.

Giants Get Bailey In 3-For-1 Trade

CINCINNATI (AP) — Don Blasingame, the Reds' new second baseman acquired in a deal for catcher Ed Bailey, is no stranger to Manager Fred Hutchinson.

Hutchinson had Blasingame on his team when he managed the St. Louis Cardinals from 1956 to 1958. "Blazer" led the National League second basemen in double plays in 1957 and was tagged for the 1958 all-star team.

The Reds got Blasingame, 29, and catcher Bob Schmidt, 28, from the San Francisco Giants Thursday night in return for Bailey, 30, a Red mainstay for several seasons.

A third player, as yet unnamed, will also join the Reds in the deal.

Schmidt, a husky (6-2, 205 lbs) right-hander, broke into the majors with San Francisco in 1958. He has been the Giants' regular catcher most of the time since then.

Both players were to report to Crosley Field tonight to play against the Pittsburgh Pirates. Both expressed satisfaction with the change of home base.

Said Blasingame: "The change can't possibly hurt me after that miserable year I had in 1960 (hitting .235 in 136 games). The change will give me a chance to play more."

Schmidt said: "I liked everybody in San Francisco and in the Giant organization. But you can have the ball park weather out there."

Last year, Schmidt batted .287 in 110 games after hitting .244 in 1958 and .243 in 1959.

This year, he has had only one hit in six times at bat, while Blasingame has been up once and that was in vain.

Starting with 1955, Blasingame hit .261, .271, .274 and .289 before his bad year, his first the Giants.

The departing Bailey has been with the Reds since 1955, when he came up from San Diego. The left-handed batter accumulated a lifetime .260 batting average as a Redleg.

His best year was 1956, when he hit .300 for 118 games. This year, he has 13 hits in 43 trips for a .302 average.

The Reds open a three-game home series against Pittsburgh tonight, hoping to break a six-straight losing streak. Joey Jay (0-2) opposes Vern Law (0-3) on the mound.

THE OTHER DAY

We got to talking about the Seven Wonders of the World, and it came out that there were actually five or six different groups of them, each in its own time, including the first Seven Wonders compiled in the Alexandrian period, about 200 B.C., with others following, up to our modern Seven Wonders of the World including separate groups of industrial wonders.

The modern 7 wonders of the world were listed in 1931 as: 1. The Great Pyramid of Egypt and the adjacent Sphinx, (2700 B.C. or earlier). 2. Hagia Sophia in Istanbul, a church and later a mosque (completed about 600 A.D.). 3. The Leaning Tower of Pisa, (completed about 1400 A.D.). 4. The Taj Mahal of Agra, India, a mausoleum (completed in 1688 A.D.). 5. The Washington Monument in Washington, D.C. (completed in 1885). 6. The Eiffel Tower in Paris (completed in 1889). 7. The Empire State Building in New York City (completed in 1931).

There also is a list of the seven wonders of transportation: 1. Automobile, 2. Streamlined Train, 3. Oceanliner, 4. Nuclear Submarine, 5. Airplane, 6. Jet plane, 7. Rocket.

We might add an 8th wonder of transportation. He is the capable mechanic who can properly service and maintain the complex modern automobile. We've got some 8th wonders in our organization, thank goodness, and they are here to serve you.

Senate Approves Bill

Ohioans Past 65 May Get Fishing Tag For Quarter

By ART PARKS
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohioans past 65 soon may be able to get fishing licenses by a token payment of 25 cents. That's $1.75 less than the regular fee.

The fee reduction is among provisions in a bill passed by the Senate Thursday as the legislature finished its 17th work week. The bill now goes to the House.

The legislature two years ago gave recipients of Aid for the Aged free fishing licenses, but failed to do anything about non-recipients who have passed retirement age.

"I wonder whether I dare vote for the bill?" cracked 68-year-old Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, in a loud whisper while the roll was being called. "Would that be a conflict of interest?"

Other provisions of the fishing bill permit free fishing licenses for those persons legally blind and require persons 16 years and older to have licenses. Presently, Ohioans under 18 need not have licenses. Furthermore, it makes any person on active duty with U.S. Armed Forces eligible for a resident fishing license even though he is not an Ohio resident.

In another major action, the Senate accepted minor House amendments and completed legislative action on an entirely rewritten commercial code for the state. The revamped code is part of a nationwide movement to make commercial law uniform throughout the United States. The Senate received almost a duplicate of a bill defeated

Wednesday to permit civil actions in vandalism cases. The original, by Sen. Fred L. Hoffman, R-Hamilton, would have permitted persons filing vandalism actions to collect half the amount of money—anywhere from $10 to $100—forfeited by the culprit. The substitute, offered by Sen. Roy Gardner, R-Richland, strips the forfeiture-sharing provision from the bill.

Across the Statehouse, the House of Representatives defeated a bill which would have required licensing of crop-dusting airplanes. The measure got only 37 affirmative votes with 85 members opposed. Sponsors said the measure would not have hurt the 10 crop dusters based in Ohio, but opponents feared it might discourage out-of-state crop dusters hired by Ohio farmers.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill requiring persons riding animals to use the left side of streets and highways.

Another bill was introduced in the Senate. It would lift the present ban on two horse race meetings less than 50 miles apart or in the same county at the same hour if one of the events involves a state, county or independent fair.

Meanwhile there were indications that opposition is withering in the Senate to a bill to require annual inspection of all school buses carrying nine or more pupils. The bill was defeated earlier in the week on an 18-18 tie vote after sailing through the House with only light opposition. A motion to reconsider the defeat is pending in the Senate.

Ohio Annexation Bill Remains In Committee

By DUANE E. CROFT
Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS, Ohio—Despite the removal of a controversial school section, the bill to modernize Ohio's annexation laws failed to garner enough votes Wednesday to report it out of the Ohio Senate Judiciary Committee.

Chairman Fred Hoffman, R-Cincinnati, said it will be considered again next week. Indications are it will be recommended for passage.

With five votes needed to report it out, the bill drew four yeas and four nays in Wednesday's vote. Sen. Donald C. Steiner, R-Canton, an outspoken supporter of the measure, was absent because of illness.

Voting in favor of the bill were Hoffman and Sens. Kenneth Barry, R-Coshocton; Richard B. Metcalf, R-Columbus, and Eugene Sawicki, D-Cleveland.

Those who passed were Sens. Edmund A. Sargus, D-St. Clairsville; Robert E. Zellar, R-Zanesville; J. E. Simpson, R-Forest, and Edward H. Dell, D-Middletown.

The school section which was deleted would have eliminated the present requirement that annexations which would split school districts must be approved by the State Board of Education.

A stream of witnesses from local school districts throughout the state had appeared before the committee to protest this proposal.

Backers of the bill conceded it offered an imperfect solution to the knotty school annexation problem and supported removing the section in an effort to salvage the other provisions in the bill.

Thomas G. O'Keefe of the Ohio Education Association told the committee deletion of the section made the bill acceptable to school officials.

Testifying against the measure was Chester Hummel, executive director of the Ohio State Association of Township Trustees and Clerks.

As in previous sessions he said township officials object to four changes the bill would make. They are:

PERMISSION for non-resident owners and corporations to sign an annexation petition.

TIGHTER restrictions on removal of names from petitions after they have been submitted.

REDUCTION in the time limit for filing a request for an injunction.

VOTING by only those residents of the area proposed for annexation rather than the residents of the entire township.

Organizations Back Bill

Appearing in support of the bill were spokesmen for the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, Ohio Home Builders Association and Ohio Municipal League.

If the committee approves the bill next week there is serious question whether it will pass the Senate without further amendments. In two previous sessions the same measure passed the House with little difficulty and then died in the Senate.

Sets Tag Day For Midland

Midland Lincoln High School band members will hold a Tag Day Tuesday, Principal William A. Walters announced.

Proceeds will be used for the band's trip to Washington May 11-13 to participate in the national school safety patrol parade. Band students will be dismissed from most classes except college preparatory.

Supt. Ralph Jewell asked teachers and pupils to observe the national air alert this afternoon at 4. School will be dismissed at 3:30—10 minutes early—so pupils and teachers can get home.

Those remaining at school are to take shelter.

Walters said the schools will follow Daylight Saving Time Monday. Dennis Cambier's commercial law classes will present "Hometown" during an assembly Monday to commemorate "Law Day."

Wage earners in the United States last year lost nearly $4 billion in accidents, and spent another $950 million in medical fees and hospital bills.

Married Pupils Get 'Green Light' For High School

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy has ruled that there is no statutory ban against married pupils attending high school.

He also held there is no law barring high school girls who are married and expectant mothers.

"The statutes enacted covering school attendance indicates a strong mandate by the General Assembly that each child in this state, regardless of domestic position, shall receive an education in a public school or its equivalent," McElroy said.

He said court decisions have held that "marriage would not constitute a valid reason for failing to attend school in compliance with compulsory attendance laws."

He added that the laws applying to a married pupil expecting a child "are no different."

Asphyxiation Ruled In Death Of Man, 78

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Ernest Schaeffer, 78, was found dead Thursday, seated in a chair in his home in nearby Fairlawn Village, where he lived alone. Coroner William Pittenger ruled death was caused by asphyxiation and said Schaeffer had been dead about three days.

Pittenger said Schaeffer apparently was overcome by smoke after he fell asleep in the chair while smoking. The chair was charred, but nothing else in the house was burned.

Former Officer Waits Sentence As Counterfeiter

CLEVELAND (AP)—Robert E. Walsh, former Cleveland detective, Thursday was convicted of counterfeit charges in an operation that flooded Ohio and nearby states with bogus $20 bills last year.

Federal Judge James C. Connell, who heard the case without a jury, deferred sentencing pending the outcome of a probation report. He continued the $10,000 bond on which Walsh is free.

Trial testimony brought out that more than $80,000 of the fake bills were made in the home of Hugh Lynn, 38, of Youngstown. Lynn pleaded guilty and was sentenced to a 10-year term in federal prison at Milan, Mich., last October.

What do you mean, "armamentarium?"

Sometimes physicians forget and talk their own language. Greek to most people. Now, about the mouthful above, ever hear something like this from your doctor? "... drawing on our present armamentarium to treat you..." Actually, "armamentarium" is just a doctor's word for the array of treatments and medications at his disposal. When it comes to drugs, this armamentarium is something. Thousands and thousands, literally! All are readily available in this pharmacy to help preserve your health when needed—a public service which we are pleased to render.
